

Sally Diane Morse

WELLFLEET — Sally D. Morse, of Wellfleet, died peacefully, surrounded by family and friends on Monday, Nov. 16, 2009.

Born in 1937, she was the daughter of the late Roger and Clarissa Bowers. Sally attended Arlington High School and after graduation she took a nursing course and worked in the North Shore Floating Hospital where she cared for infants. It was there she met her former husband, Bob Morse. Bob and Sally married and settled in Wellfleet to raise their family.

Sally was an avid reader who educated herself on a number of topics that interested her. She was a master in the art of astrology and worked for many years at Astrolabe. She practiced and was very knowledgeable about homeopathic medicine. A lifelong feminist, Sally always promoted women's rights and free speech. She was a follower of the Montessori School in education, and in 1974 implemented open classrooms in the Wellfleet Elementary School.

Sally greatly enjoyed dancing and was an accomplished tap dancer. She collected and surrounded herself with things of beauty. Sally loved the town of Wellfleet and took full advantage of its beautiful beaches. She cherished time spent with her family, especially her grandchildren.

Sally is survived by a daughter, Heather Morse of Wellfleet; son Brad Morse and his former wife, Caroly Cosker, of Wellfleet, son Brett Morse and his wife, Kathleen, of Chatham, and son Kyle Morse and his wife, Stephanie Fields, of Eastham; grandchildren Kelsey Morse, Hanna Morse, Jonathan Morse and Sarah Morse of Wellfleet and Chatham; brother Rodney Bowers and his wife, Maryann, and three sons of California; and dear friends Maggie and McKayla Flanagan of Wellfleet. She was predeceased by sister Phyllis Bowers.
